Employees raise $2.5 million during 1987 United Way campaign

Digital employees raised $2.5 million for the 1987 United Way campaign. The total was announced during the recognition dinner for Digital's United Way site chairpeople and campaign workers.

With Digital's corporate gift of a dollar-for-dollar match of all employee payroll pledges, one-time gifts, and special events money, the total support from Digital will be $5 million. Judi VonDohlen, Corporate United Way Chairperson, said, "This year we have increased our employee campaign dollars by 28%, placing us third in campaign growth amongst National Corporate Leadership (NCL) corporations nationwide."

Ken Olsen named 1988 'Manager of the Year'

The National Management Association (NMA) selected Ken Olsen, president, as the 1988 American Manager of the Year. The award is presented annually by the 28 co-sponsoring organizations of Management Week In America.

The award, presented by R.W. "Dusty" Brown, CM, Chairman of the Board of the National Management Association, represents one of the nation's highest management distinctions. It is presented to an "executive whose leadership, integrity, and management skills have profoundly, visibly and favorably influenced the outstanding performance of a key element of American business, industry, governmental or nonprofit activity such as to set the person apart among contemporaries."

R.W. "Dusty" Brown, CM, Chairman of the Board of the National Management Association presented Ken Olsen with the 1988 American Manager of the Year award.

In nominating Ken for the award, the co-sponsoring organizations noted, "Under Mr. Olsen's leadership, Digital has grown to be recognized for outstanding levels of competence and dedication ... a direct reflection of its founder."

The award presentation kicked off Management Week, the first week in June, with a series of events designed to recognize management as a profession and the important role that managers play in our economic system.

The National Management Association was formed in 1925. Comprised of a membership of more than 75,000, the NMA today serves as an umbrella organization for Management Week In America, representing 28 co-sponsoring groups of various management disciplines.

Employees walk for life

Sponsored by Digital, the AIDS Action Committee's third annual "From All Walks of Life," 10 kilometer (6.2 mile) walk-a-thon included some 300 Digital employees amongst the 12,000 walkers.

As a result of the walk, a record-breaking $1.4 million was raised. Donations by Digital employees will be matched as part of Digital's Matching Gifts Program.

The monies raised will be used for care of people with AIDS and on-going research. The AIDS ACTION Committee is a non-profit organization that assesses the needs of people with AIDS, provides services for them and provides comprehensive education concerning AIDS and related issues. ●

Payment/time form to be replaced

In July, Corporate Payroll will introduce a new single payment/timecard form to replace and consolidate existing forms. The new form will provide each employee with customized pay calculations including tax withholding, and voluntary deductions.

Other then being larger, the new form will be printed on the same stock and will be the same color (royal blue) as advice of deposit and check forms.

The new payment/timecard format will not change employee reporting procedures.

For additional details regarding the new form, see the upcoming informational brochure, which will be distributed to all U.S. employees by the end of June. ●
